JOHNSTON-SQUIRES.

Mr. J. E. Johnston and Miss Edith Squires Married at Greensburg Sunday Afternoon.

LEAVE IMMEDIATELY FOR LEXINGTON.

Mr. J. E. Johnston, well-known in Columbia, and Miss Edith Squires, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Squires, were married at the Green River Hotel, Greensburg, last Sunday afternoon. The ceremony was beautifully pronounced by Rev. W. H. C. Sandidge in the presence of a few relatives and special friends.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for Lexington where they will visit a week. Mr. Johnston is in the tobacco business and for several months made Columbia his headquarters. He is a good business man and is popular with his many friends.

The bride is one of Green county's most popular young women, and she and the groom were the recipients of many presents. The news extends its best wishes to this very deserving couple.

Rally Day Postpoed.

Owing to the revival services in progress at the Hebron church, the Rally Day exercises that were to be conducted at the Union Presbyterian church on next Sabbath will be postponed until the third Sabbath of the present month. There will be no services of any kind, except the Sunday school Sabbath, the pastor will preach at the morning hour at the Columbia Presbyterian church.

Sewing Club.

Miss Mary Cartwright delightfully entertained the "sewing club" Thursday afternoon at her home on College St. During the afternoon a salad course was served which was very much enjoyed. The invited were: Misses Ruth Summers, Elizabeth Rowe, Alice Walker, Mabel Jasper, Madge Rosenfeld, Edna Lewis, Jennie McFarland, Frances Jones, Lura Smith and Mabel Atkins.

Was the Father of 23 Children.

Mr. James Atchley, who lived near Sano, this county, died last Saturday morning. He was nearly seventy-eight years old and was the father of twenty-three children, twelve of whom are living. The deceased first and only wife, who was the mother of all his children, died two years ago. Mr. Atchley was born and reared in Sevier county, Tenn., and came to Kentucky during the war and located in Taylor county, near Campbellsville. Several years ago he became a citizen of Adair county. He was a fine old gentleman and a devoted member of the Presbyterian Church. He was buried at Bethlehem church yard late Saturday afternoon, after religious services.

The revival services at Mt. Carmel conducted by Rev. J. R. Carrowford, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Holladay as singer, are being splendidly attended and the interest good. There have been a number of conversions and renewals and the meeting gives promise of best results for the community. The services will close today (Wednesday).

Phantoms were out in great numbers last Monday night. Nearly all the young ladies in town dressed in ghost like appearance paraded the principal streets, chanting as they went. They visited the Lindsey-Willson home. Several homes in town had a hubbub of amusement. They finally landed at the Columbia Hotel and enjoyed a very delightful lunch.

A delightful time at the Lindsey-Willson Monday night. The dining room hall and other parts of the building were artistically decorated, the teachers, their wives and pupils all taking part in a few hours of merriment. One who peeped in on the happy throng says the building never looked handsomer nor faces more brighter.

Jo Zach has color, charged with way laying and killing Theodore Burrows, also colored, at Jamestown, was given a trial last week, the jury failing to agree. Seven were for acquittal and five for manslaughter.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wolford died last Friday night. Mr. Wolford was visiting her sister in Lawrence county, when the child was stricken with diphtheria. Mr. Wolford was notified of the serious illness of the child and hastened to the bedside, arriving a few minutes after the death. The sympathy of this community is extended to the surviving parents.

Parents Day at Graded School.

On Friday, October 28, the children of the rooms of Miss King, Mrs. Drake and Mr. Farris held their literary exercises. Each room was well attended, there being in all over seventy visitors.

The rooms were well decorated and everything so arranged as to make the parents happy throughout their stay. Each pupil performed his part well, and showed he had the very best of training. Many specimens of the children's daily work were on exhibit. No one could help being pleased when seeing these.

Owing to the increase in the enrollment and attendance over last year, the school board has employed an additional teacher. Two months of the school are gone and the enrollment has already exceeded the entire enrollment of last year by ten.

This year vocal music is being given in all the grades above the fourth, by Mr. Farris and Mrs. Sanders. Beginning with the third month drawing will be taught in all the grades above the first.

The high school department last year had an enrollment of five. This year it has eighteen. Miss Hinman has just received the certificate from the State Superintendent approving the course of study of the high school, and making this a high school of the second class.

The school board has furnished the high school pupils with new single desks. A splendid concrete walk six feet wide has just been completed leading from the front gate to the house. Other improvements have been made which are not mentioned here. Every thing looks bright for the continuance of the splendid year's work which has been begun.

We desire to furnish our subscribers with the election returns next Tuesday night, and in order to do that promptly we will have to withhold the publication of The News until Wednesday morning. Do not forget. The paper will not come out until Wednesday morning.

Promotion.

Frank Forth has been employed here by the Southern railway as ticket agent at the Terminal station, and during his two years' service in this position has won for himself a host of friends who appreciate him on his deserved and merited promotion.

Prior to coming to this city Mr. Forth was employed by the Queen and Crescent railway, and all who know him are confident that his ability will shortly give him the recognition for his services—Somerset Dispatch.

A number of farmers have had on exhibition specimens of corn grown this year. The finest ears we have noticed were exhibited by Mr. R. H. Price, but the entire crop of the county is far above the average. One farmer, so we understand, has offered to deliver corn here at $2.75 per barrel.

Mr. John Q. Alexander, who lost two good horses in the fire at Burksville, was the greatest loser. Mr. Baker the proprietor, had $3,500 insurance on his stable and stock.

Mr. Charles Herriford, who sold Messrs. R. F. Paul and Allen Walker the McFarland farm, near town, has rented it for this year and will remove to it.

AN OCTOBER-WEDDING.

Dr. Charles M. Murrell and Miss Clara L. Randemacher Plight Their Vows.

WILL RESIDE AT ELIDA, NEW MEXICO.

The following account of the marriage of a former resident of Columbia is taken from the Savanna, Illinois, Daily Journal, date October 26:

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Kinder on Third street was the scene of a very pretty wedding this afternoon when the impressive marriage rite was solemnized by United Dr. Charles Wilton Murrell, of Elida, New Mexico, and Miss Clara Louise Randemacher, of Clinton, Iowa, sister of Mrs. Kinder.

The parlor where the ceremony took place was very beautifully decorated. The southwest corner was hanked with palms and ferns forming a pretty background. Overhead was a large white wedding bell trimmed with pink roses, and color accents being pink, white and green. The electric lights were twinkled among the flowers and smilax making a very pretty effect when the current was on.

Promptly at one o'clock Mrs. Margaret Lichtenberger pianist, Mr. Walter D. Humphrey, violinist, played Medehalsen's wedding march which was the signal for the approach of the bride couple. The groom met the bride at the foot of the stairway and were led to the floral bower by Rev. W. O. Butler, of St. Paul's church, who spoke the words which united them as husband and wife, the impressive ring service of the church being used.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of white satin made in a very becoming style. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The only ornament worn was a gold pin worn by the groom's mother at the time of her marriage and was a gift from her father. Following the congratulations an elaborate wedding dinner was served to some thirty relatives and immediate friends. The guests were served by Misses Jessie Cottler and Freda Haines who were becomingly attired in white. H. A. Locey was caterer. The dining room was decorated in yellow and white with caryatids and smilax. Streamers of ribbon were suspended from the chandeliers to the four corners of the table.

The bride is a lady of very fine appearance and personal beauty. She was born and educated in Lyons, Ia., and is a lady of refinement. For some time she was connected with Walsh Bros. in Clinton, Ia., but for the past six months has been in their Chicago office, in Moradock Block.

Dr. Murrell is a native of the blue grass State of Kentucky, but has been in New Mexico for some time where he has built up a lucrative practice in his adopted State.

Mr. and Mrs. Murrell leave this evening at 6:30 for Elida, N. M., to make their future home and carry with them the best wishes of a host of friends.

The out-of-town guests were: C. C. Nagel and daughter, Pauline, of Hannibal, Mo.

Hon. Thos. Murrell, of Columbia, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cihlar, of Chicago.

At a meeting of the Directory and a number of stockholders of the defunct Cane Valley Bank, held last Monday, Judge W. W. Jones, of this place, was unanimously selected to wind up the affairs of the concern. The books, notes and papers have been placed in his hands for final settlement. In our judgment a more competent man could not have been selected.

It is known that Sam Lee remarked that Moles would never testify against his brother.

Over One Hundred Years in the Family.

The boundary of land, on Big Creek, known as the Alexander Hindman farm, now occupied by Charley Hindman, is perhaps the only tract of land that has been in the same family since it was entered, more than one hundred years ago. It was entered at Greensburg, when Adair county belonged to Green, by Gov. J. R. Hindman's great grandfather, who died on the place, leaving the land to his children, who occupied it until the Governor's grandfather died. It then became the property of Alexander Hindman, father of Gov. Hindman, who reared his children there, his son Charley now owning it. It has at no time been out of the Hindman family. While it is an old farm, it is a good one, located on Big Creek, the freshets every year enriching the land.

H. Halley, of Fayette county. His entire crop of 5,300 pounds brought an average of $15.75 per hundred, which is the best price for burley on any market. About 125,000 pounds were on the "barges" to day. Prices ranged from $4.50 to $20, the bulk being disposed of at from $8 to $10.

Like Rev. Kasey.

The Methodist congregation is delighted with the appointment here of Dr. Arthur Kasey as pastor of the local church.

When Dr. Means announced that he would ask for a change of station so that his successor might have an uninterrupted four years in which to take up the work of building the proposed new church, the membership began to cast about for a suitable man for the place and finally decided on Mr. Kasey. On Wednesday night of last week the majority of the official board went to Russellville and appeared before Bishop Kigo and asked that, if in the wisdom and discretion of the bishop and his cabinet it were possible, it was hoped that Mr. Kasey would be sent here. It was the bishop's grant of the request is a source of general gratification. A Letter From North Dakota.

Editor News:-

It has been one year since I chatted with my friends through the columns of this friendly paper, and so I am knocking again for a re-introduction.

I feel that I could not greet you better than to have Mr. John Wolford and wife sing No. 1 in Windows of Heaven No. 3, for me, and make it my sentiment. Really I'm thinking today of you all!

I said one year had passed, and faded away. Have we left any foot prints on the sands of time? In this year I've seen much of the handiwork of the Lord. He has visited this country with a frowning face. I've seen pretty green fields of waving grain, in three days time, turn yellow and dead, as a result of hot winds.

But we are heroic still, we believe it is "God's Way" and like the old Martyr of old, "Though he forsake us, we will trust in Him still." It some times takes a blow to arouse us, and we feel that we have had our blow.

In my letter to you, I am going to take a retrospective and a present view of life. In order that my readers may fully appreciate my letter, let them go back with me to some free from care days of childhood and let us be children together. Let us get far away from the bustle and mad rush of life, and breathe a sweet fresh breath from the fields of wheat and corn and visit the old orchard where we, as children, knew where the apples hung reddest and ripest, and sit under the old sycamore tree down by the old spring house, where Tom carved his name so many years ago.

And reader, Haven't you many fond recollections clinging round your old school days? Would you not like to go back and tread (in the same happy way) where your foot prints have been rained out for many years, and go to the meeting house and hear a sermon reached from the soul?

Well, my me-moric spell is over and I am standing at the head of a flight of years, and casting downward glances. I may need an interpreter to help solve some of the hard things of life, and if Bunyan in his Pilgrim's Progress never left his pilgrims without a comforter, neither will I in my vision of life. These hard knocks of life are only blessings in disguise, if we could only bend our wills with His. It is so hard to always say, "Thy will be done."

After the first comes the resignation, which is like a calm serene, dewy morning after a night of thunder and tempest.

One of the most beautiful features in the narrative is the feeling presence of our departed ones. The history of our Lord from first to last is fragrant with the sympathy, and musical with the presence of these shining ones. They announced his coming to the "Blessed among women." They sang songs of rejoicing at his birth. They ministered to him during his temptations in the wilderness.

In the last mysterious agony at Gethsemane it was an angel that appeared and gave him strength. And so of us who are tempted and tried, lonely and sorrowful and burdened may safely rest in the knowledge that we too have the abiding presence of ministering angels gentle and helpful, even as our Master had—and this is a blessed comfort.

In this hurry scurry life of ours we pass by unheeded those hearts who are yearning for kindness or brotherly love. Their struggles for progress are not appreciated or commended, and with sad hearts, and weary bodies, they toil on, and in sorrow they die—die without that, the most blessed of all achievements—the awakening of the human heart to a full appreciation of life. It is our highest duty to scatter all the sunshine we can in the paths of our fellow-creatures, and where sunshine is, there is love and where dwells love, every noble aspiration of the human heart dwells.

Why, Oh why, do we keep the alabaster boxes of our love and tenderness sealed up until our friends are dead. Fill our lives with sweetness, speak approving cherry words while our earthly ears can hear. Don't wait until we're gone to scatter your flowers. I would rather have a funeral without a eulogy, than a life without a sweetness of love and sympathy. Flowers on the coffin cast no fragrance backward over the weary way. There are times in most every life when a little kindness is as an oasis in their lives. More human life has been poured out through the flood gates of human tears than through the reins of those who bled and died in battle. If we want to be for some one a panacea, a sadness remover, or a grief eraser, it will warm our hearts with happiness and illuminate our skies with smiles, and blot out the wormwood of some one's soul. Its value is without money and without price, and will go to our credit in the big ledger "way up yonder."

With best wishes for the Adair County News, I am,
Very Truly Yours,
Mrs. Anna Hovious.

Better Observe This.

Do you know that if you have a child between the age of seven and sixteen that you are obliged, under the law, to send it to school? Section 267 of the Kentucky statutes provides that parents or guardians who have children in custody or control must send them to school regularly all the time during the whole school year. Children may be sent to a public, private or parochial school, for a full term equal in length to the full term of the public school in the district in which the child resides.

"Any parent, guardian or any other person having custody, control or supervision of any child embraced within the provisions of this act who shall fail to comply with the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars for the first offense, and for any subsequent offense, upon a conviction thereof, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding fifty days, or both so fined and imprisoned, in the discretion of the court."

An ordinance has been adopted in Covington limiting the number of passengers in street cars to one and one third the seating capacity.

Widening the Thanksgiving Circle.

"Home is the natural objective point for every one at the Thanksgiving season," says Margaret E. Sangster in Woman's Home Companion for November. "This is why the stranger far from kinsfolk and familiar friends is specially lonely amid general merry-making. Widen the circle so that it may include at your dinner-table your boy's chum who can not cross the continent to be with his own people on the happy day. Let your daughter invite from college two or three of her girl friends to share Thanksgiving with her.

"Not long ago a man told me that when first he left home to become a clerk in a department store in Philadelphia nothing so touched him as the thoughtful kindness of his employer's wife who never forgot to invite him to her Thanksgiving dinner as if he had been a boy of her own.

"There are ways of widening the circle without necessarily going into the highways and byways and bringing in the halt and the blind. If there is among your friends a washer-woman who works hard to feed and clothe her children, a seamstress whose earnings barely cover her needs, if there are orphan children in whom you take an interest, see to it that you share Thanksgiving with them in an unobtrusive way of sending good cheer. I say, intentionally, among your friends. It is a barren life in which sympathy is confined to a single set of people and unless we have friends among all classes and conditions we are to be pitied for our narrowness."

Pool Off.

The Burley Tobacco Society's pool of 1910 collapsed like a punctured balloon and was officially declared off Saturday night at a special meeting of the district board, held at the court house in Lexington. With the Burley pool, the pool launched last week by the Scott county tobacco growers, led by Congressman J. Campbell Cantrell, was also abandoned, and the vast bulk this year will all be thrown on the open market. President Clarence LeBus stated Saturday night that while the 1910 pool had gone to smash, the pooled tobacco of 1909 would be held by the Society until the situation had been improved and better prices could be realized.

For the past week it has been evident that the 1910 pool was tottering but President LeBus and the other members of the society clung to the one hope that the step taken by the district board last week, inviting outsiders to sign pledges to be placed in disinterested hands, and for which meetings were to be held, would yet save the day. For several days, however, reports had been coming in that buyers were scouring the country buying up tobacco at an average of 10 to 12 cents, and that even many of the growers who were members of the pool had secretly sold their crops.

Yesterday the prices at which the 1910 pool was being auctioned became so low that the society had to reject them, and with prospect of no soon getting the money for their crops in the 1909 pool, members of the 1010 pool became desperate.

Realizing that the crisis had come President LeBus last night sent out telegrams to all the members of the district board, calling them to a meeting in Lexington tonight. From early in the evening reports had been coming in telling of the utter failure of the meetings held in different counties, and when the district board assembled at 9 o'clock every member who had read these reports agreed that the pool was dead. Hence, when the situation was reviewed by President LeBus in address to the board there was practically nothing left but to declare the pool off, and though the matter was discussed until nearly midnight, it was only postponing the inevitable end. When the resolutions were at last offered by President LeBus they were at once adopted.

As he came out of the meeting after the resolutions were adopted, President LeBus remarked: "The crop of tobacco is the poorest and toughest ever raised in Kentucky, and we will let them have it and everybody get on the dump together. But we will hold on to our good tobacco pool of 1909 and make them pay us good money for it yet.

"Next year we will go to work and cut out the crop from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico and see who will win this fight in the long run, the trust or the organized growers of Burley tobacco."—Lexington Paper.

If There is Room.

A traveling salesman died very suddenly in Kalamazoo, Mich. His relatives telegraphed the florist to make a wreath; ordered that the ribbon should be extra wide, with the inscription, "Rest in Peace," on both sides, and if there is room, "We Shall Meet in Heaven."

The florist was out of town and his new assistant handled the job. It was a startling floral piece which turned up at the funeral. The ribbon was extra wide and bore the inscription, "Rest in Peace on Both Sides, and if there is room We Shall Meet in Heaven."—Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

Live Stock—Better Farming.

In talking before a live stock meeting a speaker made the statement that live stock breeding meant better farming. There is a great deal of truth in that. When a man begins to breed pure bred live stock he invariably becomes a better farmer, takes more interest in improvement and becomes a better citizen. His farm begins to improve in fertility, for he is keeping the plant food in the soil and not taking it to market as is the grain farmer. A diversified form of agriculture means more independence, and the independent man is more progressive than the man bound down by a single crop system, and soil deterioration. It is an ennobling thing to be concerned in the production of improved animals, to know that one's judgment and skill is responsible for such improvement. The live stock breeder who has his heart in the work cannot help feeling a just pride in his accomplishments, and when we become proud of our work then we become better workmen.

The Postal Banks Cheat.

Twelve hundred and fifty banks in various parts of the United States already have made application to the postoffice department to be designated depositories for postal saving funds, and 648 postmasters have made requests for the establishment of postal savings banks in their offices. About 80 per cent of the applicants will be disappointed. The government intends to start but one or two postal banks in each state for the present. Some day, perhaps, possibly when a central government bank which can be manipulated by Wall street comes into existence, the postal bank system may be extended.

The Wedding Ring.

It is interesting to contemplate the historical and romantic associations clustering around the wedding ring. Indeed, the ring as a sign of betrothal, with all its mystical significance, is of the most remote origin. In its form of a continuous circle, it was looked upon as a symbol of eternity and hence a token of the durability of the affections.

In speaking of this band of virgin gold, Wheatley says: "This ring is made of gold signifying how noble and durable our affection is; the form is round to imply that our request or regards shall never have an end; the place for it is on the fourth finger of the left hand, where the ancients thought there was a vein that came directly from the heart, and where it may be always in view, and being a finger least used, where it may be least subject to be worn out; but the main end is to be a visible and lasting token of the covenant which must never be broken.

The Great Balloon Trip.

Wellman, the daring aeronaut, with four companions, made a dash last Saturday from Atlantic City, N. J., in the huge airship. America. His intention was to cross the ocean to Europe. For a few hundred miles he made progress, but at last he met adverse currents and for two days wireless communication was stopped. He was swept Southward and his airship wrecked off the coast of North Carolina, where he and all his companions were picked up by a passing steamer. It was a daring venture and shows the determination of the present generation to out-do all former adventurers.

In Memory.

Gracy Mable, little daughter of Willie C. and Lilly Hays, of Hatcher, Taylor county, Ky., was born December 29th 1908, died September 20 1910, aged one year, nine months and thirty-one days, after a brief illness of dyptheria. All that medical skill and loving hands could do was done to stay the approach of death but, "His will not ours be done."

Mable as she was called was an unusually bright child, the father, mother and four brothers lavished much affections upon her, she being the only girl and youngest child.

There is an empty cradle from which the birdling has flown and a vacancy in the fond parents' hearts that no earthly glory can fill, but the blessed hope of seeing her again should fully compensate them for the grief they have suffered in this affliction. May the dear Lord temper this affliction to their bruised hearts, and I am sure they have the sympathy of a host of relatives and friends, and we would point them to the one who said, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven." Mrs. W. H. Speer.

A Hurry Call.

"Is there a preacher on this train?" asked a large, dark-visaged man as he passed from one sleeper to another. At last, after he had loudly repeated his query for the 5th and 6th time, a grave-looking gentleman laid aside a book and rose up from a seat near one end of the car. "I have the privilege of being a minister of the gospel, sir," he said. "Can I be of any service to you?" "Yes," said the large passenger. "A fellow back in the dining car has bet me $5 that it wasn't Lot's wife who got Joseph in trouble and I thought you might have a Bible with you, so I could prove he was wrong and get the money."—National Monthly.

Remedy for Hoag Cholera.

The Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington claim to have at last discovered a serum for the inoculation of hogs which makes them immune from cholera. The statement is made that the Stock Yards Company purchased thirty pigs weighing 40 to 60 lbs., from a farm free from cholera. They were inoculated with the blood of hogs suffering from the disease and all became affected in five days. Then 18 were given each one dose of the serum while the others were not treated in any way. The treated and untreated pigs were then put in the same pen with four inoculated ones. The untreated pigs all took the disease while the 18 treated ones were not affected. This a pretty good test but will be followed up.

The Department is not distributing serum to farmers, but hopes the stockmen may arrange to get it through State agricultural bureaus live stock societies.

Why Meat is High.

Thirty-five per cent, is the amount of profit Armour & Co., forced the public to pay last year. This became known through a statement submitted by Armour & Co. in connection with the listing of a bond issue of $30,000,000 on the stock exchange. The company by its own showing made a gross profit of $10,582,000 for the year 1909 on a capital stock of $20,000,000 and earned a surplus of $7,127,926, or the equivalent of a dividend of 35.6 per cent. As the price of beef was boosted with the beginning of 1910 it would appear that in the opinion of Armour & Co., a 35.5 per cent, profit on capital stock is not ample, even though the commodity involved is one of the necessities of life. Armour & Co., is one of the beef trust firms which enjoyed perfect immunity from prosecution by the government until Federal Judge Landis of Chicago, an insurgent forced the Taft administration to take cognizance of the fact that the beef trust was illegally holding up the public.

"Well Done."

Wh quote an editorial from the

New York World:

There were able men in the Senate than Jonathan P. Dolliver of Iowa, but none truer to his principles. He was a brilliant orator. He was a dangerous de-bator to face. He was a tremendous worker, and twenty years experience in Congress had ripened his talents and enriched his knowledge of legislation. But none of these qualifications had contributed so much to the respect and honor in which he was popularly held as his courage and honesty in standing for ideas and policies which the recognized leaders of his party were determined to defeat at any cost.

Mr. Dolliver died with his boots on so to speak, fighting for a scaling down of the schedules which, as one of our Louisville contemporaries puts it are "as bad in principle as in proportions." It is unnecessary to agree with a man in order to respect his grit and his persistency at the labor he undertakes.

Mr. Dolliver was a good and faithful public servant. His work was well done.

Two Hundred Deaths in Italy.

Rome, Italy, Oct. 25.—The Democratic Ticket

FOR CONGRESS

HON. ELIZY BERTRAM OF CLINTON COUNTY.

If the Democrats will vote out next Tuesday Mr. Bertram will carry Adair county.

Cast your vote for Bertram next Tuesday. It will be a vote against Caleb Powers.

Let no Democrat remain from the polls next Tuesday. It is necessary for every man to vote.

All indications point to a Democratic landslide in New York and a Democratic House of Representatives.

This is not a puffy fight. It is an effort to send an honest man, one whose skirts are clean to Congress. Vote for Hon. Elzy Bertram.

Favorable news of Mr. Bertram's candidacy comes from all sections of the district. No man who is opposed to Caleb Powers should fail to vote next Tuesday.

This is a very important election and no Democrat should stay at home next Tuesday. Go to the polls and vote for Bertram, then work and see that others vote.

At Corbin last Saturday, Senator W. O. Bradley spoke to a multitude of two hundred and fifty. On Sunday morning the first frost of the season in this vicinity was visible.—London Echo.

Why should the people of this district elect a man to Congress who would be wholly without influence at Washington? Think about it, gentlemen, and vote for a man of character—Hon. Elzy Bertram.

The Times is taking no part in the race for the Democratic nomination for Attorney-General, but it takes pleasure in learning from sources it considers thoroughly reliable, that the Hon. James Garnett, of Adair county, is not, as has been intimated in these columns, aligned with certain political interests in the State, but is making his race strictly on his own merits as a lawyer and a Democrat. Mr. Garnett stands high throughout Kentucky as a lawyer and gentleman, and it is but fair to him to say, in the first place, that no act of his caused the intimation referred to. While not by any means pledging itself to him, especially in view of the fact that a home district man may make the race. The Times takes genuine pleasure in informing its readers that Mr. Garnett is not a party to any political scheme involving the governorship, and is entitled to have his claims considered entirely separate and apart from that race.—Todd County Times.

Jim Howard thinks the London Echo should be suppressed and its editor killed. The last issue of the Echo contained the following editorial: "Jim Howard, in conversation in a Pineville hotel last week, said that the Echo ought to be destroyed, and named the editor, along with some other gentlemen, as fit subject for the undertaker. Perhaps Jim could suggest some method whereby the public would be relieved of our presence. We would like to insist, however, if we are to be shot, that the killing take place at the entrance of the capitol grounds in Frankfort, or in Manchester while we are surrounded by a cordon of troops. The editor of the Echo also objects to the imputation placed upon his age by James B. who, in the same conversation, referred to us as 'old man Stevenson.' This is a rather delicate matter with us, and we seriously object to being called old. We might add that Jim Howard, who advocates the killing of the Echo and those connected with it, is now electioneering for Caleb Powers."

The London Echo, the leading Republican paper in the Eleventh district, has the following: "An esteemed citizen of the county, and a thorough Republican, asked us this question the other day: 'Did I, by voting for Caleb Powers in the late primary, obligate myself to vote for him in the regular November election?' As we see it, he did not. The qualification of a voter in the primary was that he had voted for Taft in 1908, if our information is correct. We have never heard it discussed that a voter who voted for Powers in the primary obligated himself to vote for him in the November election. We think it is a matter for the voter to settle with his own conscience, which should not be hard for him to do, when he compares the records of Messrs. Powers and Bertram. Powers has a record extending as far back as the year 1899; also a record of having served eight years in jail, and has three pardons from two Governors. Bertram has no record at all, except that of having served his district wisely and well as State Senator. It seems to us that a voter with half an eye could choose between the two. No, Mr. voter, you did not bind yourself to support anyone when you voted in the late primary, but you certainly should vote for the best man. If you do that, you have done your whole duty, to yourself and to your fellow man."

Our farmers are busily engaged sowing wheat and a large crop is being sown.

We are having fine weather for farm work now.

Misses Ota and Kizzie Hood, of Bliss, visited their sister, Mrs. J. E. Loy, a few days ago.

Mr. Lindsay Perkins bought J. E. Loy's farm of 30 acres for $700. J. E. Loy purchased a farm of 50 acres from B. F. Loy near Greensburg, for $1140.

There has been several crops of tobacco in this community sold at prices ranging from 9c to 11c per pound.

Rev. J. P. Van Hoy moved last week from the parsonage here to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips, at Glenview camp ground, where he and his three little boys will remain this conference year.

The Evangelist, Rev. Andrew Johnson, of Wilmore, Ky., and Rev. A. A. Niles, of Henderson, Ky., will be in our midst from Saturday till Monday. Bro. Johnson preached at Mt. Lebanon, Sunday, the 30th, of Oct.

Mrs. Will Young and two children, of Gresham, visited the family of J. E. Loy Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. James, of Louisville, is now holding a series of meetings at the Christian church.

Our teacher, Mr. M. L. Henderson, left school in charge of Miss Ruth Helm, three days of last week while at home seeing after his clover being threshed.

Rev. Andrew Johnson, of Wilmore, Ky., and Rev. W. L. Pierce, of Pierce, Ky., will open a debate at Pierce which is six miles west of here, on Monday, Oct. 31, at 10 o'clock, on the much misunderstood doctrine of entire sanctification. Bro. Johnson of the Methodist church, affirms it attainable in this life. Bro. Pierce, of the Baptist church denies it. The debate will continue several days.

Mr. Olie Coffey has rented his farm and will have a public sale Saturday, Oct. the 29th, and on Monday the 31st, will leave with his family for the Lone Star State to make it their future home. We regret very much to give these good people up. They will be greatly missed in this community, but we wish them success in their new undertakings.

David Raegan is very low at this time with something like appendicitis.

Bessie, a little daughter of W. S. Antle, has been very sick for several days.

U. G. Collins made a business trip to Jamestown a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bradshaw made a trip to Hart county, a few days ago, where they visited their daughter, Mrs. Edwards, who is very sick.

Mr. Ransom Miller of Russell Springs, was in this vicinity last Wednesday making arrangements to complete his job on the well at our school house.

Farmers in this section have about rounded up all their farm work except corn gathering and that will begin in a few days in dead earnest.

Lawrence Collins, one of our old settlers, will move in a short time to his recently acquired farm near Russell Springs. We hate to lose Lawrence, but we don't blame him for going to Russell Springs for that is higher and nearer Heaven than it is here and the further we are on the road when we die the sooner we get there.

Mt Pleasant.

There has been conducted at this church by Eld. W. B. Taylor, of Lagrange, Ky., for some two weeks a series of revival services and under his christian and powerful presentment of the Bible, there has been quite a reunion of the membership and a revival of their vows to the "giver of every good and perfect gift," and to each other to live in unity and follow the narrow path that leads to everlasting life. Not only is this a blessing to any community but they have gathered into the fold a goodly number of those not heretofore identified with the church, some of whom are early in years, some adults and others heads of families which makes the blessing a double one.

The writer feels that when these noble young people made the start Heavenward, it gladdened the hearts of the old mothers and fathers, some of whom will soon be called on to try the realities of an unknown world. Baptisms was administered at Russell creek on Saturday afternoon in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives, and it is the heart felt wish of this one that goodness and mercy may attend them all their days.

Now, as we are a subscriber to the News, and quite a number of other Republicans as well, and after having read the letter from Dirigo last week, together with the references therewith we will kindly ask our friend, Mr. Harris, to (with malice toward none and charity for all) add the following to the letter from Roy:

The writer of that letter seemed to be wondering if there were enough people in the Eleventh District who are willing to disgrace their country thereby provoking the wrath of God upon themselves and their children as well by voting for Mr. Powers for Congress. So to ease his wondering intellect, we will say, there is enough and to spare by the thousands.

We read his references in the Good Book and failing to see the condemnation he predicts, we shall as seems good to us, on November 8th, knock at the usual place—the cabin door. We want to be perfectly fair. We have no objections to the gentleman from Dirigo voting for Mr. Bertram, thereby dodging the Lord's hailstones, which according to his prophecy are sure to come. But the scripture he refers to has not convicted a single sinner in these ends of the earth. He might read Exodus 20-15, also 22-2 and see if there are any signs of two sides. It seems very much to a Republican, as if the gentleman from Dirigo was swallowing a camel and straining a gnat. If it isn't that I am quite sure he is riding Balaam's mule, and my advice to him is, to hold his ear close to the ground about 11:30, on the night of November 8th and he will hear that mule talk.

A southwestern preacher the other day delivered a brief but very beautiful funeral sermon. Here it is: "A word to you all. Postmortem praises and love are in the air. People kiss the dead when they never stop to kiss the living; they hover over caskets in hysterical sobs, but fail to throw their arms around their loved ones who are fighting the stern battle of life. A word of cheer to the struggling soul in life is worth more than all the roses in christendom piled high on the casket covers. The dead cannot smell the flowers, but the living can. Scatter them broadcast in their pathway, therefore, and pluck out the thorns before it is too late."

Served Him Right.

The Bourbon News says a masher who had a habit of gulling women as they come out of the opera house there, was rendered speechless the other night when he accosted an unattended young woman with "I love my wife, but oh you kid." With withering scorn she turned to him and said loud enough for all around to hear: "I love my dog but oh you pup." It knocked out the masher so completely that he slunk away in the darkness and will doubtless hereafter be noticeable for his absence from former scenery.

A Hint to Mothers.

If you wish to cultivate a gossiping, meddling, censorious spirit in your children, be sure, when they come home from church, a visit or any place to which you do not accompany them to ply them with questions concerning what everybody wore how everybody looked, and what everybody said and did; and if you find anything in all this to censure always do it in their hearing. You may rest assured if you pursue a course of this kind, they will not return to you unladen with intelligence; and, rather than it should be uninteresting, they will by degrees learn to embellish in such a manner as shall not fail to call forth remarks and expressions of wonder from you. You will by this course render a spirit of curiosity—which is early visible in children and which, if rightly directed, may be made the instrument of enriching and enlarging their minds—a vehicle of mischief which will serve only to narrow them—Spencer Courier.

The Colored and the Tariff.

We seem to remember to have heard or read somewhere that the tariff is an intricate question. But in spite of its intricacy there seems to prevail a quite general impression that the present tariff is too high. This impression is acute in the West, well defined in the North and South and discernible even in the East. It appears from Mr. Taft's more recent utterances on the subject, to have permeated the White-house itself. But general as the impression undeniably is, there is one individual and, by no means an inconsiderable individual, who can rightly lay claim to immunity—reference is here made to Col. Roosevelt.

On him, the tariff has succeeded in making no fixed impression. When he is west of the Mississippi, the Payne-Aldrich tariff strikes him as "putting a premium on selfishness and subordinating the general public interest to local and special interests." When he is at Saratoga he looks on the Payne-Aldrich tariff in a light no less favorable than that in which Mr. Taft regarded it at Winona. When he gets as far East as Massachusetts, the possibility that Senator Lodge—who voted for every schedule proposed by Senator Aldrich—should not be returned to the Senate for his progressive services in so doing, him as threatening "a national calamity."

The common mind, busied with the care of mouths to feed, backs to clothe and feet that must needs be shod, finds the Payne-Aldrich tariff too high. The protectionist mind, persuaded that no tariff can be too high, is convinced that it is too low. It has remained for the Roosevelt mind to discover that it is high, low, Jack and the game, provided the fool people will find no objection to his continuing to deal from the bottom of the deck.—Louisville Times.

Still Bloody Breatheth.

The murder of "Matt" Crawford near Jackson is another addition to a list of peculiarly depressing crimes in that section which show that the overthrow of the Hargis clan, although greatly desirable and of no little value to the peace of two vicinages, did not end assassination or eliminate the feud spirit from the social and economic equation.

Feuds represent great unthrift. The assassin not only makes an end of able bodied men and throws widows and orphans upon the cold charity of the community or that of their relatives, but also deters capital from developing the resources of a section that is lawless partly because it is undeveloped.

Nothing could contribute to the cause of law enforcement in the mountains more surely than good roads and better schools. It is quite true that in a few tobacco growing counties good roads have been used by night riders, but it is reasonable to believe many night riders are not graduates of good schools, and many of them are doubtless of a class that has been brought to the tobacco districts by the industry and not representative of the social fabric that has existed for a century in the richer and better developed counties.

The next General Assembly will be asked to enact road laws and general tax laws. The measures will be planned for the improvement of the whole state, and not of a section. Better tax laws to encourage an influx of capital would go hand in hand with good road laws for the enlightenment of such sections of Kentucky as "Bloody Breatheth." The News hopes to see the next General Assembly enact both.—Frankfort News.

Obituary.

The death angel has once more visited the home of Mr. Hugh Frank Johnson and claimed for its victim his only boy "Little Grady." He was born May 11th, 1908 and died Oct., 16th, 1910. Only a few months have elapsed since his loving mother passed away to her home of rest.

Little Grady leaves a father and two little sisters and a host of loving relatives and friends.

Weep not dear friends for Little Grady has gone home to be with Jesus and the Holy Angels.

Little Grady, farewell,
Thou has gone where angels stay.
Up in Heaven with God to dwell,
Through that bright eternal day.

We loved him, yes, we loved him,
But angels loved him more;
And they have sweetly called him
To Yonder shining shore.

The golden gates were opened,
A gentle voice said come,
And with farewells unspoken
He calmly entered home.

Gradyville.

The first snow of the season came last Friday.

Dr. S. A. Taylor, of Montpelier, passed through here last Sunday en route to Nell.

J. A. Diddle spent a day or so at Greensburg first of the week.

Judge N. H. Moss and daughter, of Columbia, spent a day or so here last week.

Mr. J. R. Tutt, of Milltown, was in our midst last Friday.

Mr. J. M. Wilson has been in a critical condition for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Genie Nell will go to housekeeping in our city in the near future.

Dr. J. H. Grady, of Columbia, spent last Saturday and Sunday with his relatives in our city.

Mr. Geo. H. Nell and Mr. C. S. Bell are in Louisville this week on business.

The protracted services will begin at the Baptist church in our city the third Sunday night in November, conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. B. Cave, of Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Shirrell visited in the communities of Columbia and Montpelier a few days of last week.

Mrs. E. M. Nell, of Frankfort, called in to see us on her return from Red Lick last week.

J. F. Pendleton left here last Friday with a carload of hogs and veal calves for the Louisville market.

Brack Cain received a lot of fancy cattle here last week at prices from 3 to 3½ cents per pound. He will ship them to the Louisville market.

R. L. Caldwell, of the Milltown community, was in our midst last Friday and while here bought a mule colt from W. L. Grady for $30.

Mr. J. H. Smith, one of our best farmers, was in our midst one day last week and informed us that he was getting ready as fast as possible to get his large crop of Burley tobacco on the market. Mr. Smith has a fine crop and certainly will get a fancy price for it.

Dr. L. C. Nell spent several days in Louisville last week buying goods for his firm. Our merchants are well supplied with new goods. Come and see and convince yourself.

Mr. S. A. Harper, one of our citizens, and one of our best gardeners, has the crop for producing the largest and most sweet potatoes of any one in this section. He transplanted one hundred slips and made sixteen bushels. Some of the potatoes weighed six and eight pounds each. Now if anybody can beat this let us hear from you through the News. The Gradyville land is good for sweet potatoes as well as for corn, wheat and tobacco.

Mr. C. C. Stephens, who moved into our community from Metcalf county seven years ago and bought a farm from Thos. Hughes for $2,600. Later he bought another farm from the same party for $5,500. These two farms are known over this country as the Dr. Hughes and J. D. Flowers farms. These are two of the best farms in this section of the country. Mr. Stephens, as we all know, is one of the best farmers in this community, and has made a great deal of money on these farms, and to-day they look better than the day that he bought them. He sold, as we all know, the farms a few days ago to Messrs. Wheeler and Bardin of the Sparksville community for $11,500. Mr. Stephens made last year as well as other years gone by fine crops of corn, wheat and tobacco and to-day has in his barns twenty-five thousand pounds of Burley tobacco almost ready for the market, as well as plenty of corn and other productions of this land. We regret very much to give Mr. Stephens and family up for our community for they have been a great stay with us in our church and Sunday School and in our community and we trust that they can be suited in our community and still remain with us. We must say here that as Mr. Stephens decided to sell we are certainly gratified to know that Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Bardin bought these farms and will in the near future be here with their families. I think this deal should demonstrate to every body that there is no better place on earth than old Adair and on the waters of Batler's Fork and Big Creek, especially to make money if you will only stick to your business.

Longstreet.

The health of this vicinity is no better.

Mrs. Ida Hopper who has been very ill for some time is no better. She is surrounded by a host of friends who are anxiously awaiting to see her recover and be well again.

People are hustling about getting their potatoes dug before the big Jack frost visits us.

Rev. J. S. Wade, trad d a pair of mules for a gasoline mill. He is doing good service to the people who patronize him.

Mr. F. M. Wilson, who has been sick for some time is so that he can walk about.

Rev. J. R. Grider, preached an interesting sermon to an attentive audience last Sunday at Clear Spring.

Mr. J. W. Brown has been blasting rock.

Mr. J. B. Wade came in home a few days ago from Lexington, where he had gone to school.

The box supper was postponed at the chapel school house last Friday night. The entertainment was to have been given in the interest of a school library. Mr. Eldora George who is the teacher is having a successful school.

The new school building will soon be completed at Clear Spring. Our school has been delayed owing to the sickness of our teacher.

The election will soon be here, we should get every voter to the polls and roll up a handsome majority for Bertram, for his success in this race depends upon the voters being at their place on election day. This district would be well represented by Mr. Bertram, from the fact that he has made a noble record in the State Senate. Mr. Power's election will be no honor to his party nor to this district, because he has too much against him.

Watkins Company.

We will not mention the names of the children only with their parents. But including all there were about sixty-five present and plenty of dinner.

In the afternoon they were entertained very highly. The young folks went grape hunting which was enjoyed by all. When the church hour came at Sulphur Spring they all went, hearing one of the most impressive sermons ever delivered by Rev. Stephens.

Everybody wishing uncle Pole many more happy years.

A Six Months' Guaranty With Every Pair!

You can't lose on a pair of Desnoyers "Six Months" Shoes. The written guaranty we give you insures full six months' wear, or the equivalent of it in dollars and cents.

Sold by Us Only!

No other dealer in town can make you such an offer, because there are no other shoes on earth like "Six Months" Shoes. And we are the only dealers allowed to sell these shoes in this town.

Guaranteed shoes have never been sold before, because never before has it been possible to make shoes good enough to guarantee. The old expensive system of selling to dealers through high-salaried traveling men prevented it.

Desnoyers "Six Months" Shoes

Guaranteed for Full Six Months' Wear. The makers of "Six Months" Shoes sell direct to dealers by letter. That's why they can make the only shoe that's good enough to guarantee. The thousands of dollars they save on selling expense go into better material than other shoes can afford. The Desnoyers shoes are from Swiss makers, the uppers from Paris—no touchers.

Best Styles for Every Purpose. "Six Months" Shoes are the finest looking as well as the finest wearing shoes made. They're wonderfully light, neat and comfortable. They're made for dress, business or work and you'll find the very best styles of each to choose from.

Here's the Guaranty. If either the soles or uppers wear out within four months of purchase, either the soles or uppers will be replaced free of charge.
